Setting Up a Question Bank in Moodle: Organizing for Success

Friday 28 February 2025 15:05 (30 minutes)

Creating a well-organized question bank in Moodle is essential for effective teaching and assessment. This talk will guide you through the process of setting up a question bank that is easy to use and manage. The talk will focus on the importance of creating folders for each Unit or Topic, as well as for Midterms and Final tests. By organizing your questions into clear categories, you can save time, reduce stress, and ensure that your assessments align with your course structure. The talk will include practical tips on naming folders, naming questions, adding questions, and reusing them for quizzes and exams. Whether you are new to Moodle or looking to improve your current setup, this session will help you create a question bank that supports both teaching and learning. Join us to learn how to make your Moodle course more efficient and organized.
