

Division of Particles & Fields
DPF

Welcome to Particles and Peers A DPF Student and Early Career Community Night

June 10th, 2026

Division of Particles & Fields
DPF

This meeting is sponsored by the APS Division of Particles and Fields and subject to the APS Code of Conduct.

The APS Code of Conduct expects all meeting attendees to avoid

- Harassment, discrimination, bullying, and abuse of power
- Abusive language and/or behavior of any kind
- Retaliation, including intimidating, threatening, or coercing others
- Disruptive behavior during meetings or other events

In the event of a violation of the COC, participants may contact the organizers or, in the case of serious violations, the APS

- Online Website, a third-party confidential platform
- Ethics Hotline: (844) 660-3924 (Toll-free phone number)
- Email: APS Ethics team

Division of Particles & Fields
DPF

2026 DPF

AT FERMILAB

July 20–24
FERMILAB, BATAVIA, IL

Physics contains multitudes.

Meeting of the Division of Particles & Fields
of the American
Physical Society

REGISTER TODAY:
dpf2026.fnal.gov

Your Student & Early Career Representatives

APS Representatives

APS Student Ambassador:

Olivia Meredith Bitter
Northwestern University

oliviabitter2027@u.northwestern.edu

Early Career Scientists \(FECS\)

Graduate Student Affairs \(FGSA\)

DPF Representatives

Early Career Members-at-Large:

Pouya Asadi
Santa Cruz Institute for Particle Physics

pasadi@ucsc.edu

Samuel David Homiller
University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh Particle Physics, Astrophysics and Cosmology Center

shomiller@pitt.edu

Student Member:

Monica Leys
University of Pittsburgh

mpl47@pitt.edu

