

Contribution ID: 42

Type: not specified

Crystal experiments and recent measurements at CERN

Wednesday 12 June 2024 13:05 (15 minutes)

Bent silicon crystals have been integrated into the Large Hadron Collider (LHC) as part of the collimation system. More are planned to be installed this year for a fixed-target experiment. I present a summary of recent measurements with LHC crystals using CERN facilities, and introduce the future experiments TWOCRIST and ALADDIN.

Author: Dr DEWHURST, Kay (CERN)

Presenter: Dr DEWHURST, Kay (CERN)

Session Classification: Parallel talks