

Introduction to the physics of ESQPTs

Friday 15 July 2022 09:00 (30 minutes)

The talk will overview some recent contributions to the ESQPT field. The main attention will be focused on the recent generalization of the ESQPT concept to systems with continuous spectra, particularly to the one-dimensional tunneling problem [1,2].

References:

[1] P. Stránský, M. Šindelka, M. Kloc, P. Cejnar, Phys. Rev. Lett. 125, 020401 (2020).

[2] P. Stránský, M. Šindelka, P. Cejnar, Phys. Rev. A 103, 062207 (2021).

Co-authors: Dr STRÁNSKÝ , Pavel (Institute of Particle and Nuclear Physics, Faculty of Mathematics and Physics, Charles University); Dr ŠINDELKA, Milan (Institute of Plasma Physics, Academy of Sciences of the Czech Republic)

Presenter: CEJNAR, Pavel (Inst. of Particle and Nuclear Physics, Faculty of Mathematics and Physics, Charles Uni.)

Session Classification: Excited-state quantum phase transitions

Track Classification: Excited-state quantum phase transitions