Contribution ID: 8 Type: not specified

Studying fundamental symmetry violations with molecules

Friday 14 April 2023 14:00 (30 minutes)

The extreme electromagnetic environments present in polar molecules make them highly sensitive to fundamental symmetry violations, both within and beyond the standard model. In this talk I will review the current status of the field, discuss ongoing developments, and provide an outlook for the future.

Presenter: Prof. HUTZLER, Nick (Caltech)