

Contribution ID: 35

Type: Parallel talk

Stationary Worldline Power Distributions

Monday 3 December 2018 17:30 (20 minutes)

A stationary worldline is one of the most simple non-trivial motions in physics. Point charges moving along these trajectories emit constant radiative power. The angular distribution of this power is found for all stationary worldlines including those with torsion and hypertorsion.

Author: Prof. GOOD, Michael (Nazarbayev University)

Presenter: Prof. GOOD, Michael (Nazarbayev University)